Introduction

This document describes the changes addressed in the 3.0 release of In-Cab Scanning. The primary objective was to deprecate the user interface of the application from Adobe Flex to Angular 7.

Note: No changes were made to any functionality in this release.

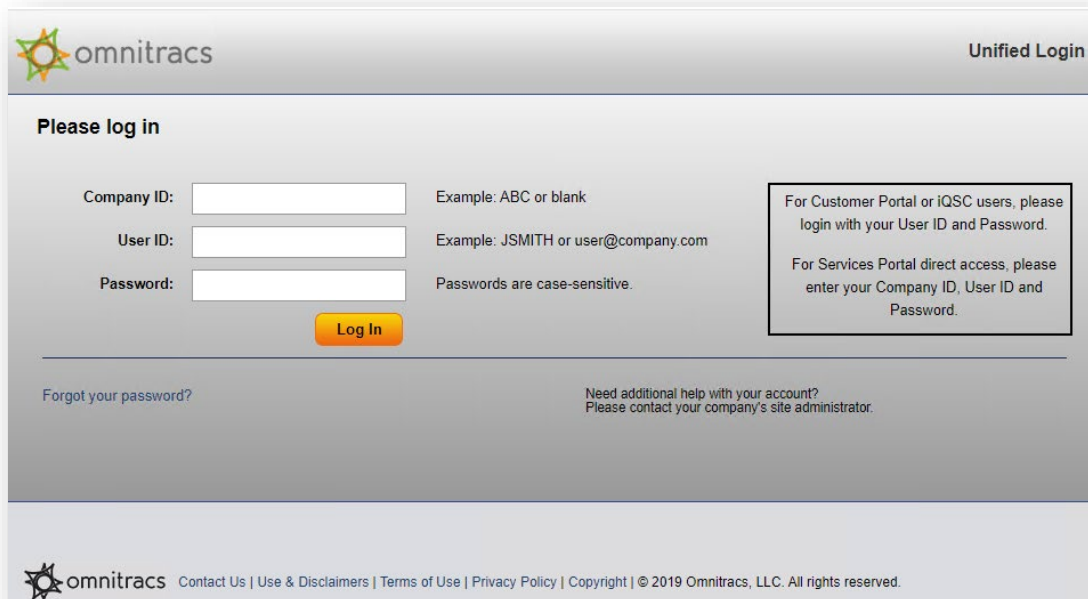

The following sections highlight the differences in the user interface between the old (Adobe Flex) and the new (Angular 7) screens of the application.

- If the user logs in through the services portal (<https://services.omnitracs.com>), all screens will be the same.
